MediaWell

News Item

Mark Zuckerberg says Facebook won’t remove anti-vaccine posts despite Covid concerns | The Guardian

By Edward Helmore
September 10, 2020

> Facebook’s CEO, Mark Zuckerberg, has said he “hopes” his social network will not effectively destroy society as we know it.
>
> In a new interview, Zuckerberg also said it was “just wrong” to think that Facebook is driven by conservatives.
>
> “I don’t think that the service is a rightwing echo chamber,” Zuckerberg told Axios on HBO in an interview published on Wednesday. “Everyone can use their voice and find media they trust that reflects the opinions and life experiences they’re having.”
>
> […]

Source: Mark Zuckerberg says Facebook won’t remove anti-vaccine posts despite Covid concerns | Technology | The Guardian