MediaWell

News Item

An introduction to live audio social media and misinformation | First Draft

By Bethan John and Shaydanay Urbani
April 29, 2021

> Facebook's planned suite of new audio features could be the most significant development in live, audio-based social media since Clubhouse splashed onto the market and prompted copycat features on other platforms, such as Twitter Spaces and Reddit Talk. But what does this trend mean for identifying and moderating misinformation? We've taken a look at each of the platforms and their moderation policies, and offer some key takeaways for journalists and misinformation researchers.
>
> […]

Source: An introduction to live audio social media and misinformation