MediaWell

News Item

The Twitter policy that could temporarily censor every single one of your tweets | The Verge

By Sean Hollister
May 17, 2021

> On Tuesday, a noted Palestinian-American journalist reporting live from protests near Jerusalem was suddenly and mysteriously silenced on Twitter — with every single tweet replaced by the message "@MariamBarghouti's account is temporarily unavailable because it violates the Twitter Media Policy." It was a mistake, the company quickly admitted, and her tweets were quickly restored.
>
> But it turns out that one part of the incident was not a mistake. While Twitter may have taken action on this person's account in error, there actually is one particular situation where Twitter reserves the right to make your tweets disappear. And — if you ask me — it's super, super dumb.
>
> […]

Source: The Twitter policy that could temporarily censor every single one of your tweets – The Verge