

Call for Proposals: Institute for Data, Democracy & Politics (IDDP) | The George Washington University

By The George Washington University

December 3, 2021

The Institute for Data, Democracy & Politics (IDDP) at The George Washington University is pleased to announce a call for fellowship proposals in support of research projects aligned with IDDP's mission.

IDDP's mission is to help the public, journalists, and policymakers understand digital media's influence on public dialogue and opinion, and to develop sound solutions to disinformation and other ills that arise in these spaces.

Applications are open for IDDP Research Fellowships in support of outstanding academic research projects proposed by PhD or other terminal degree-holders at any stage of their career-but with priority given to early career scholars. Applicants may submit proposals for research-related expenses up to $20,000. The fellowships will be paid as individual stipends.
