

Americans Plan To Follow Election Returns Closely; Biden Supporters More Confident Their News Sources Will Make Right Call | Pew Research Center

By Amy Mitchell, Mark Jurkowitz, J. Baxter Oliphant & Elisa Shearer

October 21, 2020

Pew Research Center's American News Pathways project conducted this study to understand how Americans are engaging with and perceiving news coverage of the 2020 presidential election and the COVID-19 pandemic.

For this analysis, we surveyed 10,059 U.S. adults between Oct. 6-12, 2020. Everyone who completed the survey is a member of Pew Research Center's American Trends Panel (ATP), an online survey panel that is recruited through national, random sampling of residential addresses. This way nearly all U.S. adults have a chance of selection. The survey is weighted to be representative of the U.S. adult population by gender, race, ethnicity, partisan affiliation, education and other categories. Read more about the ATP's methodology.

[...]

Source: Americans Plan To Follow Election Returns Closely; Biden Supporters More Confident Their News Sources Will Make Right Call | Pew Research Center