The tech dystopia we live in just keeps getting weirder.

An anti-vaccine group led by none other than Robert F. Kennedy Jr has filed a lawsuit against Facebook in the US because it's not happy about the company fact-checking its posts.

The notorious Children's Health Defense (CHD) group is taking up arms against Facebook, CEO Zuck, PolitiFact, Poynter and Science Feedback because it thinks two of its constitutional rights have been infringed on. It also reckons those organisations colluded to commit wire fraud by getting rid of anti-vaxx ads.
