China paid Facebook and Twitter to help sow anti-Muslim misinformation | Vox

By Sigal Samuel August 27, 2019

In China's internment camps, Muslims are reportedly subjected to forced indoctrination, torture, and even death. Yet some paid ads on Facebook and Twitter would have you believe they're wonderful places.

The US-based social media giants have been enabling Chinese state-owned media to spread misinformation about the camps, investigations by the Intercept and BuzzFeed News revealed this week.
