

Disinformation Fuels A White Evangelical Movement. It Led 1 Virginia Pastor To Quit | NPR

By Dalia Mortada, Rachel Martin, and Bo Hamby

February 22, 2021

Jared Stacy is still processing his decision to leave Spotswood Baptist Church in Fredericksburg, Va., last year. Until November, he was ministering to young parishioners in their 20s and 30s.

But in the four years since he had joined the church as a pastor, Stacy had found himself increasingly up against an invisible, powerful force taking hold of members of his congregation: conspiracy theories, disinformation and lies.

Stacy has seen the real consequences of these lies build up over the years; he says it has tainted the name of his faith.

[...]

Source: Disinformation Fuels A White Evangelical Movement. It Led 1 Virginia Pastor To Quit | NPR