News Item

EU Weighs Forcing Social-Media Companies to Remove Disinformation | Wall Street Journal Pro: Cybersecurity

By Catherine Stupp
November 4, 2019

> European Union officials are threatening to regulate how social-media platforms such as Facebook Inc. and Twitter Inc. moderate content, increasing pressure on the companies to remove bots and fake posts and accounts.
>
> The European Commission, the union's executive decision-making body, is discussing with member countries whether to create a law to require social-media companies to remove disinformation. It expects to reach a decision early next year, officials told journalists last week.
>
> […]

Source: EU Weighs Forcing Social-Media Companies to Remove Disinformation – WSJ