

Flash grants of up to $50K are now available for fact-checkers fighting coronavirus misinformation | Poynter

By The International Fact-Checking Network

March 17, 2020

The International Fact-Checking Network (IFCN) and Facebook have partnered to support the fact-checking community working on the COVID-19 related misinformation with a budget of $1 million.

Since January, the IFCN, based at the Poynter Institute, has been coordinating the #CoronaVirusFacts Alliance, with more than 100 fact-checkers in at least 45 countries. The partnership will broaden this work and improve its reach.

[...]

Source: Flash grants of up to \$50K are now available for fact-checkers fighting coronavirus misinformation