

Highlights of the APSA 2019 conference | Pew Research Center

By Bradley Jones, Galen Stocking, Michael Barthel, & Patrick Van Kessel

October 23, 2019

The annual meeting of the American Political Science Association took place in Washington, D.C., in September, with researchers from around the world showcasing new findings. Below are brief summaries of some of the research presented at the conference (though the meeting covered many other subjects, and our researchers couldn't attend every panel). Several of these papers relate to past Pew Research Center work on misinformation and survey methodology.

As is true of many academic conferences, some of these results may be preliminary and could be revised, and several of the papers are not yet published in peer-reviewed journals. The full conference program is available here.

[...]

Source: Highlights of the APSA 2019 conference | Pew Research Center