

Job Opening | Research Engineer | Wikimedia Foundation

By Wikimedia Foundation

August 18, 2020

We're hiring a Research Engineer strongly committed to the principles of free knowledge, open source and open data, transparency, privacy, and collaboration to join the Research team. As a Research Engineer on our team, you will support the research scientists in addressing knowledge gaps on the Wikimedia projects, supporting the Wikimedia volunteers in improving knowledge integrity, and building a more global community of Wikimedia researchers. We're accepting applications until the 31st of August with a start date by, or before, October 30th.

You'll work remotely with a distributed team, with members spread between Europe and North America. Here are some things we've worked on recently that might give you a better sense of what you could be working on:

[...]

Source: Job Application for Research Engineer at Wikimedia Foundation