

Job Opening | Research Fellow, Meedan

By Meedan

March 13, 2020

Meedan is seeking a Research Fellow to join its research team for a 12-month fellowship. The successful fellow will work primarily on the CryptoChat project led by Dr Scott Hale at Meedan and Dr Kiran Garimella at MIT's Institute for Data, Systems, and Society. The Fellow will also contribute to other research projects at Meedan under guidance from Director of Research, Dr Hale. The Fellow's research will include analysis of large, real-world social media datasets created and annotated by Meedan partners. This opportunity is available to suitable candidates located anywhere in the world to work remotely with in-person opportunities in Oxford, UK, or San Francisco, USA.
