If you like your News Feed on Facebook to include a steady stream of sunset photos, Buddha memes, and inspirational quotes from the likes of Bob Marley and the Dalai Lama, you might be among the 2 million people who have followed a page called "Energy Therapy UK" since it was created in 2009.

It was set up by London-based yoga teachers Jaime and Jennifer Tanna, who say they seek to "educate the public about energy healing, personal growth and valid alternative approaches to health and wellbeing".
