Threat Analyst – Trust & Safety | ByteDance

By ByteDance

August 31, 2020

> As a threat analyst/researcher on our Trust & Safety team you will work alongside multiple teams to bring and action on analysis of platform threats. You will work cross-functionally with product managers, program managers, operations, policy, and communications teams; to find gaps in current threat response processes such as detection and mitigation. You will be part of a team of global experts that not only respond to bad actors, but proactively search and identify coming threats building scalable protections to keep them out.
