

Trump's Stupid 'Where Is the DNC Server?' Conspiracy Theory, Explained | Motherboard

By Jason Koebler

July 20, 2018

Monday, in a press conference with Vladimir Putin, Donald Trump refused to say that Russia had anything to do with the 2016 Democratic National Committee, DCCC, and Hillary Clinton campaign hacks, despite the fact that 12 Russians were indicted by the FBI Friday.

Instead, when asked if he believed the Russians were involved, Trump repeated his belief that the DNC and the FBI are hiding something.

"You have groups that are wondering why the FBI never took the server?," Trump said. "Why was the FBI told to leave the office of the Democratic National Committee? I've been asking it for months and months. Where is the server? I want to know where is the server and what is the server saying?"

The short answer is that "the server" that Trump is referring to is sitting in a DNC office in Washington, DC—the New York Times has a photo of it here.

Source: Trump's Stupid 'Where Is the DNC Server?' Conspiracy Theory, Explained | Motherboard