

Vaccine mandates got a huge US push. What's next for misinformation? | First Draft

By First Draft

July 29, 2021

Yesterday, the US Department of Veterans Affairs became the first federal agency to announce that its frontline medical workers will be required to get vaccinated against Covid-19, while New York City and California also announced plans for vaccine mandates. California's requirement, like the VA's, applies to health workers; New York's will apply to around 350,000 city workers, including police officers and teachers. Those who decline to get vaccinated in New York City or California will have the option of weekly Covid-19 testing.

[...]

Source: Vaccine mandates got a huge US push. What's next for misinformation? | First Draft