

What is the Alliance for the Future of the Internet? | Protocol

By Issie Lapowsky

December 6, 2021

The White House is set to announce plans this week for its much-anticipated Alliance for the Future of the Internet, a bid to rally a coalition of democracies around a vision for an open and free web.

But behind the scenes, digital rights advocates, foreign governments and even other U.S. officials have spent the last month scrambling to push the White House to rethink its initial plans, leaving the fine points of the proposal in flux with days to go before the big reveal.

[...]

Source: What is the Alliance for the Future of the Internet? | Protocol